Comerio Ercole is pleased to announce its participation in two of the most prestigious international exhibitions for the rubber and plastics industry: K2025 in Düsseldorf, Germany, where we will be present at stand 16F21 and RubberTech Shanghai 2025, where we will welcome visitors at stand N1B272A. These two events represent a fundamental opportunity to reinforce our global presence and celebrate 140° anniversary 1885-2025, to meet with long-standing partners and to establish new relationships with companies and professionals from around the world. Our participation at K2025 reflects our determination to remain at the forefront of the global plastics and rubber industry, bringing to Düsseldorf our long tradition combined with a constant drive toward progress. The K fair has always been a landmark occasion for innovation, knowledge sharing and networking and once again it will be the perfect stage to present our vision and exchange ideas on the future of the industry with clients, colleagues and stakeholders from every continent.

Shortly before Düsseldorf, we will move to Asia to take part in RubberTech Shanghai, a fair that has become the leading platform for the rubber sector in one of the most dynamic and fast-growing markets worldwide. Our presence at stand N1B272A will not only underline Comerio Ercole's international outlook but will also highlight the strength of our local presence, as our Chinese team will be there to welcome visitors, provide insights and strengthen the direct connection with the Asian market. This dedicated local support is a testament to our commitment to being close to our customers and partners in every region, ensuring that our values of reliability, competence and innovation are represented globally but also deeply rooted at the local level.

In both Düsseldorf and Shanghai, Comerio Ercole will reaffirm its role as a company capable of combining tradition and innovation, adapting to new global challenges while staying true to the values that have guided our growth for over 140 years. These exhibitions are not only an opportunity to share our experience and vision but also a chance to listen, to learn and to build the foundations for the next chapter of our story together with our partners and stakeholders. We warmly invite all visitors to join us in Düsseldorf and Shanghai, to meet our international and local teams, and to exchange perspectives on the future of our industry, confident that these occasions will offer new opportunities to strengthen relationships and to create lasting value.
